MATINEE TOMORROW (Monday Afternoon)

The Celebrated "Lynch Trio" AT THE BIJOU

At a big expense we have secured the celebrated "Lynch Trio" of Boy and Girls singers for this coming week at The Bijou theatre; and in order that every girl and her mother may hear them tomorrow, we have decided to throw open our doors to the Afternoon Matinee and admit them to that performance absolutely FREE of any cost whatever.

This trio of singers is composed of two little girls and one brother, who are accompanied by their parents wherever they go; and as they have been singing on the "Big Vaudeville Circuits," they have been "traveling some." They are always in such great demand that an order for them has to be in for some time before they can be secured.

Our confidence in their ability to please you is so great that we are admitting the ladies and girls FREE this first Matinee, believing that you will be bound to come back to hear them again and again.

ANNOUNCED THE PRESIDENT

Kansas City Tailor, Who Wrote Strange Letters, Is Arrested.

(New York Times.) Kansas City, Oct. 23.—Carl Helwig, 47, a tailor, who has been annoying President Wilson with correspondence, was arrested today. He made such a fight it took four policemen to overpower him. Helwig, when arrested, was on his way from his rooms to mail another letter to President Wilson. His letters to the president has been in protest against the government's maintaining "police" forces in the United States, a free country. The man also has been protesting against the treatment he says he received in St. Elizabeth's hospital in Washington, where he was treated last October.

Helwig's last letter to the president was sent Oct. 2. In it he pleaded for Mr. Wilson to urge his daughter Margaret to answer a letter he sent her in August. In his letter to Miss Wilson, Helwig appealed to her to use her influence to have "police forces" abolished.

Joseph Tumulty, Secretary to the president, turned his letters over to the Jackson count authorities. Helwig is in the observation ward of the General Hospital.

COLUMBIA READY FOR BIGGEST STATE FAIR

Harvest Jubilee Expected to Draw Record Breaking Attendance—Many New Features.

Columbia, Oct. 23.—Reports coming in from all sections of the state indicate that unprecedented attendance records will be established at the state fair this week. The high reaches in figures are expected from the first day, in that the coronation ceremonies of the queen of the harvest jubilee will be held tomorrow evening. Thousands of people will come from all parts of the state for this single feature. Before the crowds attracted by this have dispersed to their homes, the fair week thing will have been swelled to its maximum proportions by the hundreds that will come to see and have a part in the big festivities of the season. W. W. Long, state farm demonstration agent, who spent yesterday in Columbia says he has been traveling throughout the state, and in every nook and cranny the farmers are talking state fair as never before. "I expect 50,000 people to come to Columbia Thursday, the 'big day of the show,'" he volunteered yesterday.

D. P. Eild, the secretary of the fair association, says that at no time during his association with the organization for more than 20 years has there been such insistent demands for concessions for exhibition privileges as have been pressed this season. Space was at a premium several weeks this year in advance of the demand for normal years.

The enlarged attendance is to be attributed to several distinct factors. One is that the economic and industrial depression, so demoralizing one year ago, have been largely dissipated. With cotton selling above 6 cents and cotton seed at $10 a ton, there are few farmers in the state who can not produce, without embarrassment, the necessary expenses to attend the fair one or two days.

In addition to the improved business conditions, failure to come to Columbia last fall will be a deciding factor this season. Many farmers and business men are accustomed to making an annual pilgrimage to Columbia for this definite purpose. Depressed financial conditions prevented attendance last year. Three years would be too large a gap to be spanned. If business were no better this fall than last, argue the state fair officials, the attendance this year would be far above that of last, because of this, if for no other reason.

The most potent force of all in bringing the crowds, will be the harvest jubilee festival. No other state fair has ever been so generously advertised. With "practically" every county in the state pressing the claims of a candidate for the beauty queen contest, a bond of sympathetic interest was established statewide in scope. The "local" angle was a wholly new feature, and the harvest jubilee, as a "feeder," for the state fair crowds, has been "megaphoned" into every city, village and hamlet of the state.

Another insistent appeal made to the remote districts, and which also added "local color," was the natural resource parade, a distinct feature of the harvest jubilee celebration. The entries of the parade will be synonymous with the name. Floats from each county, community or city listed will be so constructed as to interpret accurately the natural resources which serve as a background for the agricultural development and industrial and commercial life of the particular territory. Much ingenuity is being expended in the effort of artisans to create beautiful and attractive designs to be entered from the different sections.

On last Monday, October 19, 1915, the Walker-McElmoyle opened with the brightest prospects for the most successful year in its history. The opening exercises were held in the chapel from 9 to 11 o'clock. Not only a good number of children, but the trustees and many of the parents and friends of the school had gathered as an evidence of their interest, and in the spirit of hearty cooperation. Prof. Paul G. Haddon, principal, conducted devotional exercises. All joined in singing "America." After which Prof. Haddon briefly outlined his plans and hopes for a successful year of school work and improvement of school grounds. Ray, being the speaker of the day was next introduced, and in his usual attractive manner gave a splendid talk on the cooperation of trustees, patrons, teachers and pupils, which was practical and helpful. The trustees, Mr. W. H. Martin, Mr. W. A. O. Jamison welcomed the teachers, and made short talks on matters of interest to all concerned in the welfare of the school. Several of the patrons expressed their willingness to cooperate not only for the uplift of the school, but the beautifying of the grounds. The corps of teachers are as follows: Prof. Paul G. Haddon, principal; Miss Sara E. Haddon, intermediate department; Miss Annie Belle Jordan, primary work; Prof. Haddon and Miss Jordan are new teachers. Miss Haddon was here last session.

The School Improvement Association will meet at the building Friday, October 22, 1915, at 8:30 o'clock. We are anxious for a full meeting, as we have some important business to attend to. 56 patrons, friends, come.

Of great riches there is no real use, except it be in the distribution. Bacon.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING AT CLEMSON THURSDAY

Miss Nela Taylor Sloan Wed James Treutlen Foy—Beautiful Affair.

Clemson College, Oct. 22.—The marriage of Miss Nela Taylor Sloan to Mr. James Treutlen Foy was solemnized Thursday evening at half past eight o'clock. As the strains of the wedding march fell on the hushed audience, the ushers, T. C. Robertson and M. T. Birch, escorted the bride party to the altar in the following order: Miss Sara Furman and G. F. Lipscomb; Miss Kitty Furman and C. J. King; Miss Helen Brackett and L. C. Martin; Miss Floride Calhoun and T. A. Rouse. Then comes Mrs. T. G. Lybster, "on, dame of honor, and Miss Jani, Sloan, sister of the bride, maid of honor. Little flower girls, Amy Sloan and Margaret Freeman preceded the bride, who came down the aisle on the arm of her brother, Winslow Sloan, who gave the bride away. The groom approached the altar with W. O. Jelks of Hawkinsville, Ga., his best man. The Rev. W. H. Mills read the stately and impressive Presbyterian marriage service.

A lovely picture the bride made in a white liberty satin and rare lace, and bearing an elegant bunch of bride's roses. The maid of honor, Miss Janie Sloan, and beautifully attired in gown of white and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bride's maids were handsomely gowned in white, and all carried lovely bouquets of pink roses. The dame of honor was attired in a becoming costume of delicate green.

The Fort Hill Presbyterian church was radiantly splendid in the harmonious blending of green and white in the attractive decorations—pot plants and rare ferns being used in graceful profusion, and over all was the mellow glow of numerous candelabra. The large congregation of friends added to the brilliancy of the lovely scene.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. D. B. Sloan, which was profusely decorated in cut flowers, ferns and palms, and to which a royal richness was added by the great number of costly presents artfully arranged in the hall. Punch was served on the veranda by Mesdames J. E. Hunter, F. T. Dargan, and Rebecca Shiver. The guests were received in the hall by Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Riggs, and Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Daniel. Mrs. Winslow Sloan directed the guests to the drawing room, and presented them to the receiving line composed of the bride party and Mrs. Sloan, the mother of the bride and Mrs. Roy Foy, the mother of the groom. Mrs. F. H. H. Calhoun and Mrs. A. Drimlett assisted in entertaining the guests and conducted them into the dining room, where ice cream and cake were served by Misses Margaret Sadler and Lazette Hutchinson. Mrs. R. N. Brackett and Mrs. W. H. Mills cut the cream at the bride's table.

The bride, one of Clemson's most attractive ladies is the youngest daughter of Mrs. D. B. Sloan; the groom is an assistant in the department of chemistry, and is a son of Mrs. Carrie Foy of Buffalo, Ala.

The bride and groom have gone to New York and other points for several weeks. On Monday afternoon Mrs. W. H. Mills gave a towel shower in honor of the bride. As the guests entered, little Miss Mary Leighton Mills gave the bride-elect a basket filled with cards on which were written original verses describing the hiding places of her gifts. After a merry hunt the packages were all found and opened. The guests were then given cards on which were written mixed up words, and were told that the bride's suit case looked that way after the journey. They were all finally arranged, and Miss Josie Madison was presented with a tiny suit case whose contents were in perfect order. She gave it to the bride-elect. A salad course was served.

Misses Sara and Kitty Furman entertained in honor of the bride and groom on Wednesday evening. The invited guests were the bride party. A two course supper was served. On Tuesday evening in compliment to the groom, Mr. Foy, Mrs. Winslow Sloan entertained the bride party. Cream and cake were served.

A CHANCE OF A LIFETIME—SOME ALMOST GIVEN AWAY

A Big Sale Will Be Inaugurated Monday Morning—Get Here Early to Secure Choice of Bargains—Out of Town People Come, Write, Phone or Wire for Bargain List—Open Evenings Till 8 O'Clock, No. 314 South Main Street.

TO THE PUBLIC:

After over fifty years of successful business, we have decided to quit the piano business and collect up all of our outstanding accounts. Owing to the fact of continued ill health of our president, Mr. C. A. Reed, the directors at a recent meeting decided it would be best to close out the large stock as quickly as possible.

It is with a feeling of regret that we make this announcement. During the long years we have been in business we have made many life-long friends (we count every customer a friend), and we wish to publicly thank them here and now for their confidence and liberal patronage.

We have always tried to be fair, liberal and just in all our dealings, and if we have a dissatisfied customer on our books we do not know it.

Having definitely decided to retire from the piano business, we were confronted with the problem of disposing of our big stock of over 190 fine pianos and organs. At first we thought of selling the stock in bulk to some dealer or gradually selling it off in the regular retail way—the difficulty with the first plan is the stock is too large for the average dealer to buy and pay for, and we would not, of course, sell a part to one dealer, and a part to another, as this would not be fair to the large piano factories we represent. The second plan is out of the question, as it would require about a year to sell off everything in a retail way, and we have not the time. We are quitting the piano and organ business NOW, AT ONCE.

So the thought occurred to us: "Why not offer the stock to piano buyers themselves at the same price we would have to take from a dealer and give the people the difference between this price and the regular retail price." And this is the course we have decided on. We know, as well as we know anything, that there are more people ready and waiting for just such an opportunity than we will have pianos and organs to supply, just as soon as this great offer is made known to them.

We would like, of course, to get the best cost of these pianos and organs, but realize that in a case like this it is not what we would like to get, but what we must take, and we will have to be satisfied with what they will bring.

Our main purpose is to close out the entire stock of over 190 instruments within two weeks time, instead of going along for about a year with a big expense, trying to dispose of it in the regular way.

It seems almost impossible to sell so many fine pianos and organs in so short a time, but we intend to make the instruments sell themselves. In marking the selling prices, we have left nothing to change. In most cases we have not only cut off all semblance of profit, but on some slightly used pianos we have cut deep into their very cost.

Stock Companies Best Makes. Probably in no other music store in this broad land will you find a finer array of high-class makes, than you have at this time, for here are such pianos as the "Ivers and Pond," "Kranich & Back," "Kimball," "Chickering Bros.," "Fisher," "Kroeger," and many others. Nearly all of them are new, some are slightly used or shop-worn, and all priced accordingly.

When it comes to organs, we have all the best makes: "Estey," "Kimball," "Mason and Hamlin," "Crown," "Farand and Votey," "Weaver" and a dozen or so other makes. One Price—Plain Figures. Every instrument will bear the regular tag, which will not only show the original price, but the sale price as well. One price to all. First come, first served.

We cannot, of course, in justice to the various factories, name a price in print in connection with any particular piano. It is therefore necessary that you see the pianos, see the organs and see the tags with plain figures, then you will begin to realize what this sale means to you. We can save you from a $100 to $225 on some of the pianos and player pianos that have been used for a short time.

About the Terms. While we have marked this stock at the lowest prices ever known for dependable pianos and organs, and many are away under factory cost and should be sold for spot cash, we realize that some good people will not want to pay all cash at time of purchase, and for this reason we have decided to sell on reasonable time without any advance in price.

Now Sample Bargains. Good high-class uprights that usually sell for $325, $350 to $400 to close out now for $137, $167 to $225, cash or $10 to $15 cash and $5 to $8 a month. Most beautiful Mahogany, Walnut and Golden oak case uprights, choice of many makes cut in price from $350, $400, $450 to $500, that can be had now for $243, $267, $229 to $317 cash, or $15 to $25 cash and $3 to $12 a month.

You can get new organs now for almost one-half the usual selling prices. We cannot describe this stock or quote prices here except in a general way. You will have to come and see it to appreciate what this sale means to you. Out of town people should patronize this sale. It will pay you to come hundreds of miles to buy a piano.
